Unit 4

Countable and uncountable nouns

Most nouns are countable. They have singular and plural forms.

one girl - two girls one car - two cars

Some nouns are uncountable. They don't have a plural form.

bread, milk, homework, music

a/an, some and any

	singular countable	plural countable	uncountable
+	I've got an orange.	I've got some potatoes.	I've got some pasta.
-	I haven't got an orange.	I haven't got any potatoes.	I haven't got any pasta.
?	Have you got an orange?	Have you got any potatoes?	Have you got any pasta?

We use a with singular countable nouns, or an when the noun starts with a vowel.

a banana a dog a guitar an orange an elephant an egg

We use some and any with plural countable nouns and uncountable nouns when we don't know how much there is of something or it's not important. We usually use some for affirmative sentences and any for negative sentences and questions.

I've got some apples and some bread. I haven't got any bananas or any pasta. Have we got any oranges? Have we got any cheese?

Complete the sentences with a/an, some or any.

- 1 We've got red car.
- 2 I've got bananas.
- 3 Ana doesn't like fruit.
- 4 Can I have orange, please?
- 5 They haven't got biscuits.
- Have you got green pen?

there is / there are

	singular	plural
+	There's a supermarket.	There are some chips on the tray.

?	Is there a supermarket?	Are there any chips?
+	Yes, there is.	Yes, there are.
-	No, there isn't.	No, there aren't.

We use there is (there's) with singular countable and uncountable nouns.

There's a cinema. There's some cheese.

- We use there are with plural countable nouns. There are four pizzas.
- In questions and negatives we use any with plural and uncountable nouns.

Is there any milk? There aren't any books.

2 Use the information to write questions and short answers about the two places.

	Hessle	Cottingham
a sports centre	X	✓
good restaurants	✓	X
a cinema	X	✓

Is there a sports centre in Hessle? No, there isn't.

much / many / a lot of

		countable plural	uncountable
4	F	There are a lot of apples.	There's a lot of cheese.
-		There aren't many apples.	There isn't much cheese.
?	?	How many apples are there?	How much cheese is there?

- We use much, many and a lot of to talk about quantity.
- We use much in negative sentences with uncountable nouns and many in negative sentences with countable nouns.

There isn't much milk and there aren't many apples.

We use a lot of in affirmative sentences to describe a large quantity of something.

There are a lot of apples and there's a lot of meat.

We use how much/many to ask about quantity. How many sisters have you got? How much money have you got?

3 Complete the sentences with much, many or a lot of.
